FATEFUL DELIBERATIONS IN MUNICH

Four Leading Figures Of Europe Confer At Fuehrer's Residence

ITALIAN AND GERMAN FOREIGN MINISTERS ALSO TAKE PART

Munich, September 29.
THE BRITISH PRIME MINISTER, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the German Chancellor, Herr Adolf Hitler, the French Prime Minister, M. Daladier, and Signor Benito Mussolini, began their fateful deliberations at 12.45 p.m. British Standard Time (8.45 p.m. Hongkong Time) to-day.

THE FOUR LEADING FIGURES OF EUROPE, who are now together for the first time, went into conference in the study of the Fuehrer's house, which is one of the latest of Munich's new Nazi edifices, after a buffet lunch lasting less than three quarters of an hour.

Count Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, and Herr Joachim von Ribbentrop, German Foreign Minister, also took part in the discussions.

The spacious corridors of the Fuehrer's house were thronged with diplomats.

Signor Mussolini and the Fuehrer arrived in Munich in the same train at 11 a.m. the Fuehrer having gone to Kufstein, on the Austro-German border, to meet M. Daladier landed at the airport at 11.15 followed by Mr. Chamberlain.

CONFERENCE ADJOURNED

Munich, Sept. 29.
The conference adjourned at 2.45 p.m. to allow the Ministers to take a short rest. According to German sources the conference will be resumed at 5 p.m.—Reuter.

lain at 11.51 o'clock. Both Prime Ministers were met by M. Poincet, French Ambassador, and Sir Neville Henderson, British Ambassador, respectively, and other German officials.

M. Daladier and Mr. Chamberlain disembarked from their planes to the strains of the Marseillaise and the British National Anthem and tremendous cheering of the crowds, present.

The British and French Prime Ministers each reviewed a guard of honour provided by the Black Guards.

The Prime Ministers later drove to their respective hotels through streets which were a sea of flags and, peopled by the biggest crowd ever seen here.—Reuter.

HOPE IN GENEVA

Geneva, Sept. 29.
Hope reigns unchallenged in Geneva this morning that the Munich conference will lead to peace.

A suggestion, widely canvassed here, is that the Sudeten territories will be almost immediately evacuated by Czechs and occupied by British, French and Italian troops on the lines of the occupation of the Saar during the plebiscite.

A resolution which will be placed before the League Assembly this morning states, "Forty-nine nations are watching with anxiety the development of the crisis and are convinced that its differences can be settled by peaceful means."—Reuter.

London, Sept. 29.
Great hopes are expressed in the British press that the Council of four nations will find a just and peaceful settlement of the bitter racial dispute in Czechoslovakia removing Czech fears and German grievances.

"The Times" adds that this council have it in their power, if also in their will, to set Europe at last in the way of timely and orderly reconstruction.

The "Daily Mail" says that if it succeeds in the main task, none of the other dangerous problems confronting Europe should be insoluble by the same means.

The "News-Chronicle," in warmly welcoming the development revealed in the Prime Minister's speech, comments on the marshalling of those moral factors throughout the world which preceded Hitler's invitation and which are ultimately decisive. It calls for a solution settling the matters in dispute by fair dealing and leaving Czechoslovakia within its redrawn frontiers secure and adequately guaranteed.—British Wireless.

HUNGARIAN OFFICIAL AT CONFERENCE

Munich, Sept. 29.
An official of the Hungarian Foreign Ministry flew from Budapest to Munich in connection with the conference.—Reuter Bulletin.

"GOOD OLD CHAMBERLAIN"

London, Sept. 29.
A small crowd cheered the Prime Minister, Mr. Chamberlain, as he left Downing Street for Heston airport this morning.

Workmen who were putting-up sandbags round the windows of the Foreign Office stopped work when the Prime Minister passed and greeted him with cheers, saying, "Good old Chamberlain," and "Keep up the good work, mate."—Reuter Bulletin.

GENERAL UGAKI RESIGNS

Warm Dispute Between Army And Foreign Office

PROJECTED CENTRAL BUREAU

Tokyo, September 29.
GENERAL KAZUSHIGE UGAKI, who succeeded Mr. Koki Hirota as Japanese Foreign Minister several months ago, has resigned. Gen. Ugaki, who was born in 1889, was Governor-General of Chosen from 1931 to 1938.

The Foreign Minister's resignation is the outcome of a virtual rupture in the protracted negotiations to settle a warm dispute between the Army and the Foreign Office.

The dispute concerns the scope of authority in the functions of the projected Central Bureau to handle Japan's affairs in China. The establishment of the Bureau are on lines wanted by the Army which the Foreign Office considers will seriously impinge its own diplomatic field.

An extraordinary meeting of the Cabinet was summoned to discuss the situation. Rumours of the ministerial crisis caused a slump in the stock market this afternoon.

Negotiations to settle the dispute met with a snag when General Ugaki expressed strong disapproval of the draft compromise worked by the Army, Navy and certain officials in the Foreign Office.

The compromise was to be discussed this morning at a conference of five Ministers, and was expected to be approved but the meeting was suddenly cancelled.

REFUSAL TO ATTEND

The reason for the cancellation of the meeting is believed to be General Ugaki's refusal to attend. Lending credence to the rumours that General Ugaki intends to resign if his objections to the compromise were not met was his departure this afternoon for his villa at Kunitachi on the outskirts of Tokyo. He had previously held a 24-minute interview with the Prime Minister, Prince Konoye.

Before proceeding to Kunitachi, General Ugaki told newspapermen that he was suffering from stomach trouble and intended to rest in his villa.

"I will not discuss the China Bureau to-day. As a matter of fact, I do not know when I can take the matter up again," he remarked.

General Ugaki also announced that he would not see anyone at his villa.

The Foreign Minister is believed to be suffering from "diplomatic

AIR RAID WORK COMPLETION URGED

London, Sept. 29.
Statements on emergency measures were issued by Ministers last night.

Sir Samuel Hoare, Home Secretary, emphasised the need for all air raid precautions work to be pushed on to completion.

The Secretary for War expressed appreciation of the way in which the anti-aircraft and coast defences had been made at full strength in a few hours.—British Wireless.

POTSDAM NOT CALLING AT SINGAPORE

Singapore, Sept. 29.
The German liner Potsdam, which is expected to arrive in Singapore to-day, is not calling at this port.

The ship is carrying a considerable number of British passengers for Singapore and Hongkong.—Reuter Bulletin.

MERCURY'S FLIGHT FORBIDDEN

London, Sept. 29.
In view of the international situation the proposed attempt on the record long distance flight by the Mercury from Dundee to Capetown has been forbidden by the Air Ministry in the meantime.

If there is a distinct improvement in the situation by Friday the ban may be removed. In that event the flight will be proceeded with as soon as weather conditions permit.

If the situation is still critical on Friday afternoon the flight will be postponed and both planes of the composite craft will return to their base at Southampton.—British Wireless.

Reaction To Crisis In Colony

MANY INQUIRIES AT SHIPPING OFFICES

Reaction of local foreigners to the European tension during the last few days was reflected in the numerous inquiries made at shipping offices on Tuesday and Wednesday regarding sailing movements.

One Japanese firm received inquiries from four foreign nationals on Wednesday, but so far as can be ascertained, there has not as yet been any unusual exodus.

Questions regarding freight, as distinct from passage, have also been asked and in one or two cases foreign residents have sent to Shanghai heavy baggage and other things likely to impede rapid departure.

There was a noticeable lessening of activity yesterday following the announcement of the Four-Power Conference to be held in Munich, a round of the shipping offices revealing only one case of what might be termed as an emergency inquiry.

The Transocean News Service yesterday emphatically denied that there was any truth in local vernacular papers to the effect that the Service had received secret orders from the German Government to leave Hongkong within one week and return to Germany.

No such orders had been received by Transocean either from the German Government or from the German Consulate in Hongkong it was stated. The Transocean News Service is carrying on work as usual, and no special preparations are contemplated for leaving the Colony or closing the office.

It was further denied that a conference had taken place at the German Consulate on Wednesday evening. No such conference ever took place, and none is planned.

It is stated that German residents in Hongkong are carrying on their work as usual, confident that a settlement will be reached in Europe without hostilities breaking out.

THREE JAPANESE PLANES SHOT DOWN

Kunming, Sept. 29.
The Japanese air force paid the price of three planes for their first raid on Kunming, capital of Yunnan, yesterday morning.

The air raid alarm sounded at 9 a.m. when nine Japanese machines were sighted heading for this city. Shortly after the raiders broke into the city limits.

They were challenged by Chinese pursuits and in the ensuing dog-fight three enemy planes were shot down. The rest flew hurriedly away.—Central News.

CHINESE HOLDING POSITIONS SOUTH OF MAHWEILING

Fierce Fighting Breaks Out Along Railway

JAPANESE SUFFER HEAVY CASUALTIES

Tehan, September 29.
AFTER SEVERAL DAYS' respite during which only sporadic skirmishes were reported, fierce fighting has broken out anew along the Nanchang-Kinkiang Railway with the defenders firmly holding their positions south of Mahweiling and north of Tphan.

The new Japanese assault, began with an infantry attack on the morning of September 28, broke into full force on the following day when the invaders threw their combined land, naval and air forces into the struggle.

The Chinese stronghold at Huzetsui bore the full brunt of the onslaught. Cleverly hidden behind machine-gun posts in their entrenched positions, the defenders repulsed numerous charges, inflicting large numbers of casualties.

The Japanese wasted quantities of ammunition in their repeated unsuccessful attempts to dislodge the Chinese. Since the morning of September 28, it is estimated they have hurled several thousand shells into the Chinese line, in addition to more than 500 bombs dropped by their planes.

Strong mechanised units were repulsed with heavy losses. The loss of men killed and wounded on both sides reached very heavy proportions during the last few days.

While stubbornly holding their ground, Chinese troops made repeated excursions into the Japanese occupied areas and inflicted many casualties at Kweitsungsu, Yuchingshan, and other points around Kuling.

During the attacks, Chinese soldiers were assisted by heavy artillery and the air force which has been exacting particularly heavy toll from the Japanese.—Central News.

SECRET LEAGUE SESSION

No Agreement Reached

Geneva, Sept. 29.

The League Council met this morning at a secret session in another attempt to draft a resolution on the Sino-Japanese dispute. Late last night a formula was agreed to between the Belgian delegate and M. Poincet, of Greece, who is an expert at drafting formulas to meet difficult situations.

When the draft resolution came before the Council strong objection was taken to it.

The resolution had been drafted to meet the arguments of the Belgian delegate that only the Assembly was entitled to condemn Japan's act of aggression and it was not for the Council to pass a resolution containing such condemnation.

A contrary view was taken by M. Paul Boncour, M. Litvinoff and Dr. Wellington Koo who contended that the Council was entitled to take such action. No agreement was reached and the Council adjourned until after the meeting of the Assembly when another effort will be made to reach an agreement.—Reuter.

FINE ISSUE

The Council eventually solved the difficulties by adopting a report and not the resolution, which, while making clear that sanctions are applicable against Japan, leaves open the question as to whether States should decide, collectively or individually, that Japan is the aggressor.

The whole question turned on a rather fine issue of League jurisdiction. The report is to be presented at to-morrow's public meeting of the Council.

The question of whether the Assembly or Council is competent to condemn the aggressor is thus avoided.—Reuter.

NO INTERPORT CRICKET

The Committee of the Hongkong Cricket Club regret that in view of existing conditions, it is considered inadvisable to proceed with arrangements for sending an Interport Cricket Team to Shanghai next week, and with much reluctance they have notified the Shanghai Cricket Club accordingly.

TIENCHIACHENG ENTERED

Terrific Battle, Heavy Losses

Shanghai, Sept. 29.
Tienchicheng, on the Yangtze, 90 miles to the east of Hankow and dominating the last of the fortified positions supported by the natural defences of the Yangtze, is claimed to have been entered by the Japanese to-day.

The Chinese still have a series of fortified and boomed positions between Tienchicheng and Hankow but none of these are aided by hills and other natural fortifications such as at Tienchicheng.

The entry of the town was the climax to a terrific battle. Both sides suffered heavy casualties, the Japanese placing their figure at 5,000 and the Chinese about double.

To the north of Hankow, the Japanese are still 100 miles distant and in the past two days they mercilessly bombed Chinese positions on the Pinghan Railway, at Sinyang and Kwangshui. Their troops are still held approximately 20 miles to the east of the Railway and north of Hankow's natural defence barrier, the Taishan Mountains.—Reuter.

MA ON SHAN AND ALPS

Interesting Talk On Mountaineering

MR. G.S.P. HEYWOOD TELLS OF CLIMBS

"Mountaineering in Hongkong and Elsewhere" was the subject of an interesting lecture given by Mr. G. S. P. Heywood, of the Royal Observatory, at St. Andrew's Church Hall yesterday evening, before a large audience.

The lecture was illustrated with lantern slides, including many beautiful scenes of the Alps.

"Anyone whose hobby is mountaineering finds it hard to explain his passion to other people," said Mr. Heywood. "I am not going to try to explain the 'mountain madness' I cannot tell you why we love climbing and regard it as the finest sport on earth, or why we feel that the moments spent overcoming a difficulty on a rock face, or basking on a well-earned summit are the only ones in which we are really alive."

"Instead I am going to show you some mountain photographs. If they persuade just one of you to get nails put in your shoes and make your first ascent of Ma On Shan next winter, I shall be well pleased," he added.

Mr. Heywood chose Ma On Shan as the first topic of his address. He regarded this mountain as the loveliest in Hongkong. To reach it he advised a sampan trip, lasting about half an hour, from Lok Lo Ha, on the Tai Po Road, which would take one to the foot of the mountain. From then on it was an exhilarating climb up the hunchback ridge.

The speaker went on to describe the beautiful scenery.

Referring to climbing hills of the Home countries, Mr. Heywood expressed the view that these hills were more rocky and mountaineers depended on ropes.

Climbing the Alps, he continued, was beautiful and afforded climbers plenty of thrills. He recalled happy experiences in these ventures when the wonderful scenery and landscape reminded him of the old psalmist who said: "I will lift up my eyes to the hills from whence cometh my help."

UNMUZZLED DOGS

Mrs. H. W. G. McLaren, of 79 Waterloo Road, was fined $10 by Mr. K. M. A. Barnett at the Kowloon Court yesterday, being summoned to answer a charge of allowing her black chow dog to be in Waterloo Road without muzzle or lead.

Mr. McLaren, appearing in answer to the summons, said that the dog had been inoculated against rabies.

E. Allaye, of 16 Cumberland Road, was also fined $10 for allowing his chow dog loose in Cumberland Road, without a muzzle.

Lance-Sergeant D. H. Taylor prosecuted.

MANSLAUGHTER

Committal proceedings against Wai Yiu, 31-year-old engineer, charged with manslaughter of Li Kau, 29, a mechanic, were continued at the Kowloon Court yesterday before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen, when several witnesses were heard.

Wai is alleged to have assaulted Li in Cheung Lok Street on September 19, having, it is claimed, taken objection to the manner in which Li spoke to him.

AIR MAIL DELAYED

Owing to a delay on the main route, the air mail from England and Europe, which was to arrive to-day, will not arrive till tomorrow.

The Delphinus is due to leave this morning for Bangkok.

40,000 HEROIN PILLS FOUND IN BOX

Woman Denies Knowledge

Wong Tong, married woman, appeared before Mr. R. Edwards at the Central Court yesterday charged with the possession of 40,000 heroin pills on September 18.

Revenue Officer J. L. Stephens was in charge of the prosecution, while Mr. M. A. da Silva appeared for the defendant.

A party of revenue officers raided defendant's house at No. 82 Queen's Road East in the early morning of September 18, and found a black box, which contained the drug.

Defendant, in the witness box, said that the pills belonged to a man named Tam Kai, who had engaged her because he was ill. The room in which the box was found was Tam's bedroom, and was occasionally occupied by her when he was away.

Tam had gone to the country and had not returned to Hongkong since September 3. She denied knowledge of the contents of the box.

The hearing was adjourned to this afternoon.

TRAFFICKING IN GIRLS

New Charges To Be Brought

Hearing of the case against a man and two women, charged in connection with alleged trafficking in women and girls and harbouring women and girls sold for prostitution, will be re-opened on October 7.

Before Mr. H. R. Butters at the Central Court yesterday, Mr. J. B. Prentis, Assistant Crown Solicitor, stated that new charges would be preferred against them.

The defendants were:—

Chiu Tung-kan, unemployed; Chau Po-chu, married woman; and Chau Lo-sam, widow.

Mr. J. M. D'Almada Remedios appeared on behalf of Chau Po-chu and Chau Lo-sam and pleaded not guilty to all charges.

Another woman, named Ng Shiu-ying, who appeared on similar charges, was remanded. The case against her will be heard separately.

FIRST KNOWN CASE

Mui-tsai Brought To Colony By Air

"I think this is the first known case of a mui-tsai travelling by air" were the words of Inspector H. W. Fraser, of the S. C. A., at the Kowloon Court yesterday when he appeared before Mr. Macfadyen to prosecute Chung Tsok-lam, 40, Chinese Government clerk, charged with keeping an unregistered mui-tsai.

Cheung Ah-seong, the eight-year-old girl, had been brought down by plane from Hankow last month.

She was only brought for registration to the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs on September 27. Defendant was fined $10.

FRAUD ALLEGED

A shop foki, Yik Ng, aged 46, appeared before Mr. Edwards at the Central Court yesterday charged on two counts of fraudulent conversion of sums of $621.20 and $612.

It was alleged that the money was entrusted to Yik by the Wing On Co. Ltd., on August 15 and 27 to pay the West River Transportation and Trading Company.

A remand of 24 hours was granted.

CONFIDE IN FAITH PRIOR

MERE MALE is nearing his fifties and confesses to having been very intolerant of young love. His wife is opposite, and he invites an opinion of his described attitude.

Perhaps, like many men, you have forgotten your own youth. Youth is the time for the follies of love. Age is the time for peace and more attention to the mind. I think it is always wise, when condemning the young, to go back to one's own youth and deliberately try to live again those days. Then cherish, in gratitude, those memories.

VERY SORRY describes with keen intelligence and humiliation a parting, and her just attempt, after suffering, to put things right by confession herself wrong in separating over a triviality.

Your regret is understandable, and your shock and hurt feelings when hard words met your difficult apology. As you still convinced he cares, and stubbornly adopts this attitude to punish you perhaps? Leave him alone until he misses you sufficiently to overcome his hurt.

If he does not, you must try to regard the matter with some philosophy and not let it wreck your health. It is weakness of character that lets sorrow or loss cause a breakdown. When one gives in too much and worries others, that is wrong. Life still has to go on, so one might as well face things with courage.

IGNORANT inquires regarding the length of time for mourning apparel after the death of her father?

It is entirely up to you how long you wear mourning, but no one could criticise you for beginning to abandon it after six months. You can very properly commence to wear white, black and white and soft pastel colours. To-day, only very occasionally do we see anyone wear a black band around the sleeve. This old English custom is gradually being discontinued. If you have black slacks wear them, but do not buy them if you do not already own them, nor do I see any reason for buying more mourning.

DISGUSTED MOTHER writes of her nine-year-old daughter, who always invents an excuse whenever she is asked to do some little chore. How can she break this child of her fault before it becomes a habit?

Have you ever stopped to think that you may be undermining the self-respect of your child by trying to do the directing, instead of persuading her to accept and discharge a responsibility? Responsibility is assumed by taking it but not by merely obeying commands. Children as well as adults resent being told what to do, and the more independence and character they have the more they resent it and protect their integrity even with childish excuses.

Instead of ordering the door to be shut, make your daughter assume responsibility for leaving the door as she found it. Instead of ordering her to do something to her room, make her responsible for the order of her room and let her suffer the results of disorder.

YES OR NO has dismissed the man she cared for because of his many petty faults and meanness, and asks how to judge human beings and if she was right in her action?

You obviously have had your fondness for him killed by his undoubtedly wrong behaviour, lies, trickery, deception, and stinginess. Because that affection is as dead as if you never cared at all, it proves itself not to have been love. Love is a strange power which refuses to die even in the bitterest of pain and cruellest of disillusion. Count your ill fortune for your freedom from a spiritual bondage which robs the lives of many loving women of all hope and peace. Nobody can withstand the slow, destructive power of small mean faults, and you have done right.

FIRST AND LAST explains a state of affairs in her home created by her husband's obsessed devotion to an older sister who mothered him when he was younger and for whom he sacrifices the comfort and peace of his wife and child.

The governing laws of the universe are that man makes his home, has his wife and family, and forsakes all others. So it goes on generation after generation. There is no need, if a man has the means and time, entirely to neglect one who has been good to him, but his wife and child and own home come first.

Moreover, you have described with unconscious accuracy a type of woman who invariably exerts her cheated maternal instincts on a younger brother. Your disturbance is quite normal, for your instinct recognises an enemy of your peace and happiness. Your husband is, as you say, rather weak in character, although loving and kind, and perhaps that explains it all. You must talk to him and not argue.

(Each week in this column, Faith Prior answers questions of a personal nature submitted by readers of the Daily Press.)

Round The Shops

Bag and The Gloves

With cooler days here, you must have several new pairs of gloves. Do not heave a sigh! The $6.85 suede and kid gloves are just the things for day-time and shopping. The palms are leather and the backs are suede. Colours are dark, and the group is complete in size range. They are a very smart necessity.

In the same shop at the same glove counter you can find a dresser glove in "washable," kid manufactured by Morley. There are various styles, and a wide colour range in the deep colours.

And for the dressy event, of course, the fine French suede gloves! Perfectly plain or with fine, delicate trim.

These three glove styles are inexpensive and you will need one of each.

Perhaps you will not be able to resist the new American bags. In this shop, too. They are in dark leathers, very well fitted and conservative. Believe it or not, they cost only $9.75.

The imitation leather bags, made by this same firm, are very reasonable in price, wear very well, and are made in colours to match your costume.

Grand Manner.

When dining and swaying to music these coming nights, you must be the grande dame. All of the new gowns express dignity and richness. One of the smaller shops has on display crepes, two tones, rayon, taffeta, chiffon and velvet for the evening hours.

Noted in this group is the fullness to the back of the skirt and low necklines, back and front. Rich and handsome artificial jewels and embroidery are used on belts and sashes. Jackets are still in the picture, some with fringe, spangles, sequin and a few with fur trim.

In the same shop are French felt hoods. The colours are beautiful rich and deep and the bright vivid shades. These can be fashioned to your individual taste. As soon as you see them, you commence to search your brain for a costume to blend with these gorgeous coloured felts.

Temple and Durbin

The Shirley Temple and Deanna Durbin bonnets may sound very childish, but many is the time when you find just the correct piece of apparel in a boys' or girls' department. One of the Kowloon shops has a selection of hats worn by these two outstanding little actresses. They are quite right for sport clothes, tailored and trim. See that you get there before the younger members of the family.

Tricorns, pill boxes, Robin Hood and many other styles have just arrived in this shop for the more dresser occasion. Feathers, bows, and fur globs are the main trims. The colours are varied. And it will thrill you to match a new handbag with one of the hats! The selection in the latter is very good, all the colours and styles being quite high fashion.

Any information pertaining to these items may be obtained from Barbara Lee, 30251, or enclose a self addressed envelope to the "Daily Press."

FASHIONS IN FOOD

CONVERSATION

It is perhaps because of the Great War that people talk a good deal about food, but it is also a greater appreciation by the generality of this important subject which has brought it into general conversation.

In the Victorian days, when there was much money and much food, people were supposed not to talk about them. The Victorians ate a lot, but they did not mention it. The neo-Geor-

WHAT'S IN A HAT!

GOING HIGH HAT? That is full fashion—but so is a small one, a big one, a low one or just some material that appears to be a hat. You can pretend to be a soldier boy, sailor boy, a Russian Princess, a Robin Hood, a Greta Garbo, or a Shirley Temple. Hats and more hats are in the style picture, and tie in with practically any costume you may choose.

Trims are either too obvious or absent. Feathers are the most popular at the moment, and fine feathers make a fine chapeau. Have them in bright colours and do not be afraid of tall or small ones. Some of the hats have complete birds; others several waving plumes. For sports, you can copy Robin Hood's feather and be right in the front line of fashion.

To be fetching and catch "his eye," try the tricorn. This style is very feminine, and be sure you wear it on one side of the head. The trim with this bonnet should be ribbon, veil, velvet, or a small gadget. They are very swank with a plain tailored suit or the morning street dress.

OFF THE FACE

The off-the-face hat, the one which gives you the appearance of "the little girl on the sight-seeing bus," is strictly a street chapeau, quite plain due to the high front, but it will be very much in evidence this coming winter with heavy coats, suits and spectator sport apparel.

Now, berets! Everyone of you adores them. Pull this side down, push the back up, pull the centre crown up, or down over the eyes—just about any jerk and you have a new beret.

The all-suede, bright in colours, is the present rage. You can use a gadget trim, clip, veil or feather; however, it is smartest when worn without any adornment. Do not under-estimate this hat; it is a stand-by and worn more than ever these days.

The pill-box is another style which has been in the fashion picture for several years. This year, you dress it up a bit with long or eye veils, bows on top or feathers at the side. This little piece of felt can do wonders for many of you who have not one of those faces which suit the larger or more impudent bonnets of the season.

FUR CHAPEAU

Fur hats—small ones will be used quite extensively. Leopard, beaver, Persian lamb, rabbit and other short-haired furs will be turned into darling pill boxes, berets or flat pan-cakes and be the trick point in the dressy street or afternoon spectator sports outfit.

With all these new styles of headgear, pay attention to your crowning glory. Brush or swirl the hair upward. Just imagine what you would look like with a flowing long bob; it would be silly and would ruin the perfect hat for the perfect costume. The newest lifted coiffure in Paris has the back hair curled and cut short, like a baby's, and the top hair curled in a pompadour.

Invest in hats which will more or less complement your particular hair style. Keep brushing your locks up and up each night; they must be trained.

Above all, do not enter a hat shop without having your hair arranged in a more or less winter coiffure. You will not like the new bonnets with a summer hair-dress.

WHITE SIMPLICITY is perennially smart, and Eleanor Powell, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, wears an evening gown of white soufflé with gathered bodice and very full skirt. Shoulder straps of brilliant find continuation in the bands of the bodice, achieving a Grecian note.

gians eat less and they are always talking about it.

Slimming is to-day only another word for food, since the two meet on the question of diet. And even the very young have their diet scheme, if only in order to break it down.

The Victorians, many of them, would have liked to slim by other means than corsetry, but the conception was different in days when six or seven course dinners were a matter of course.

And they were not necessarily small courses, and they took a long time. It would have been difficult to eat nothing while they were in progress—soup, fish, meat, entree, and all.

At the same time, the idea was sustained that one ate nothing or next to nothing, and to talk of the glories of the sole or the savoury, to admit to an intimate knowledge of how it was produced; to say, as people say nowadays, "I adore food," would have been to confess oneself unladylike and even coarse.

Women are allowed to have tastes in food, and are even encouraged to eat and to appreciate eating.

It is something to have got over a delicacy which had no actual basis in fact, and to enjoy openly, as well as in private, a daily process which, after all, in some quarters ranks as an art.

ARE YOU SMART?

Smartness is very hard to capture with mere words, but there are a few tricks and factors which go a long way to help a woman appear smart.

The smart look is not an accident, nor luck, nor the so-called "fair" for dressing. It is the product of wisdom and judgment and experience not forgetting trials and plenty of early errors!

One of these days, when you are dressed in your very best "bit and tucker," put your appearance to the test.

Does your costume fit perfectly? Is there a thread hanging, a button off, a tiny spot, an uneven edge, a hemline an inch too long, a dip in the back? This doesn't sound mysterious, I know, but the same it is getting down to real workable facts!

Name your costume now. Is it town, sport, afternoon, evening? Check the hat with it, and ask the same of the hat. The same of your shoes, your bag and gloves.

Does your appearance present a quiet entity of colour to the eyes of others? Or have you a white jacket and a print frock with brown shoes and a yellow hat? That makes a hodge-podge. Colour entity is a great secret.

Are you well groomed? For all the clothes from Paris itself cannot help a woman whose make-up is careless, whose nails are ill kept, whose shoes and gloves look worn and weary! This dressing business is a big job. The women we turn to admire have earned our admiration. Such things do not just happen.

Do you know your type? Are you athletic, petite, reserved, animated, dignified, roughish? And how does your body line up with all this? Have you square, masculine shoulders, or more sloping feminine ones, a settled plumpness?

As much skill goes into the finished effect of a perfectly costumed woman as ever went into a portrait or a statue. It is the great, modern art. Fortunately, each one of you can teach yourself the skill of the game. Your satisfaction will be great when public eyes turn to give you that second searching look!

When Milady Bowls

Do you frequent the Alleys and enjoy swinging the woods to knock down the pins or make a complete strike? If so, what do you wear? There is apparel for various types of athletic activities, and bowling is included.

An airtex shirt—any colour, with short sleeves and open neck, is best, and wear a brassiere under this. Shorts are next on the bowling costume list. They may be any colour but are not to be too short—remember you have to bend quite a bit at this game. Tennis shoes are the best footwear, and you will find a pair of socks necessary: they absorb the perspiration of your feet, keeping the shoes from becoming anchors to your body as well as preserving your tennis shoes.

BANDEAU ROUND YOUR HAIR
Some women like to wear a cotton "kerchief" about their neck. This is permissible and very useful. Have a bandeau or narrow ribbon about your hair.

And above all, do not laden your face with cosmetics. If you do, the perspiration will streak your face and give you the appearance of something out of a side-show. If you must, put lipstick on your lips: it will keep them from drying and will not run or streak. Furthermore, make-up and vigorous activities do not go together. It is bad for your skin.

A good idea is to take a terry cloth or towelling jacket to the Alleys with you. This is to use after a game when on your way home. They are extremely smart, can be made in various colours and you can use them as a towel. They will keep you from catching a cold.

NEWS ABOUT THE SERVICES

ROYAL NAVY

MEMORIAL TO ADMIRAL SIR WILLIAM FISHER

It is announced in Fleet Orders that the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty are glad to give their sympathy and support to the wish expressed by certain officers to erect a memorial, in brass or bronze, to the late Admiral Sir William W. Fisher, G.C.B., G.C.V.O., in St. Anne's Church, Portsmouth Dockyard.

The form of the memorial will be decided later, and in the meantime any officers who wish to be associated with it should send donations to the Port Accountant, Officer, Semaphore Tower, H.M. Dockyard, Portsmouth. The project has the knowledge and consent of Lady Fisher, the Admiral's widow.

AIRCRAFT MAINTENANCE

Details have been approved for the new Air Artificer Branch and the Air Fitter and Air Rigger Branch of the Royal Navy, which have been established to undertake the duties of the maintenance of aircraft for the Fleet Air Arm.

Ratings of both branches will first have been trained as air apprentices for three years, on similar lines to artificer apprentices, R.N. On completion of the training they will be rated air fitter or air rigger, and selection will be made later for training as air artificer.

Air fitters will maintain the engines and air riggers the frames of aircraft. They will be dressed as artisan ratings, except that an air fitter, four-bladed, with the letters (F) or (R) will be substituted as their badge for the crossed axe and hammer prescribed for artisans. Rates of pay will range from 3s. 9d. a day to 9s. 6d. a day.

After two years at sea 50 per cent. will be selected to undergo a further course of one year's training to qualify for the Air Artificer Branch. The lowest grade in this is air artificer, 4th class (petty officer), with pay of 8s. a day, and there will be promotion through the various grades to chief air artificer, 1st class, with pay of 11s. 8d. a day.

Air artificers will be dressed as other naval artificer ratings and their conditions of advancement will conform generally to those applicable to ordnance and electrical artificers.

RED SEA DIVISION

The Senior Naval Officer Red Sea, Captain W. K. D. Dowling, D.S.C., will transfer from his present ship, the Fleetwood, to the new escort vessel Egret on her arrival on the station. The Egret is being completed at Cowes by J. Samuel White and Co., and should be ready for service in November.

ARTIFICER TO CADET

Two artificer apprentices, P. A. Southgate and J. A. Woodward, are joining the training ship Erebus at Portsmouth, on being appointed naval cadets (engineering), under the system introduced in 1921 whereby promising lads in the boy artificer training establishments who distinguish themselves may be selected for training as engineer officers and join the R.N. Engineering College at Keyham.

Cadet Southgate comes from the Mechanical Training Establishment at Chatham, and Cadet Woodward from H.M.S. Caledonia at Rosyth—the first to obtain a cadetship from that vessel. During the past 15 years 20 lads from the artificer training establishments have been selected for training for commissions in this way, four of whom have now reached the rank of lieutenant-commander (E.).

NAVAL APPOINTMENTS

The following appointments are made by the Admiralty:—Lt. (F/Lt., R.A.F.)—D. D. O'Brien, to Alford (Sept. 14). Lt. (E.)—J. A. Fenn-Clark, to Erebus (Sept. 20). Act. Sub-Lt.—J. D. M. Briscoe, appt. to Osprey cancelled.

Wt. Shipt.—W. E. Helyer, to Medway (Oct. 15).

Wt. Elect.—E. H. Marchant, to Vernon (Sept. 12).

RETIREMENTS

Payr. Gapt.—J. W. E. Gilhespy, O.B.E., placed on the Retd. List (Sept. 14).

Cd. Gunner (T)—A. E. Allen with rank of Lt. (Sept. 17).

WARSHIPS IN HARBOUR

British warships in harbour yesterday included the three cruisers, Kent, Birmingham and Cardiff, six destroyers, two gunboats, a sloop and three submarines.

Only two of the seven American men-of-war that were here during the last few days were anchored in the stream yesterday. These were the Pecos and the Pope.

THE ARMY

REORGANIZATION OF STAFF TRAINING

The reorganization of Staff training already announced by the Army Council will be reflected in India for British and Indian Army officers from December.

Beginning with 1939 the Staff College at Quetta will be confined to training for second, intermediate, and third-grade appointments. It will become a Junior Wing of the Staff College, and the course will be reduced to one year. Officers who entered the college last February will graduate in December, thus becoming the first division to constitute a junior wing course at that college. Training for senior staff appointments for British and Indian Army officers will be undertaken at the senior wing of the home Staff College which will open at Minley Manor, in Hampshire, in January, the course being for one year.

Admission to the home and Indian Staff Colleges will continue to be by entrance examination in February and March under revised regulations now in preparation. The vacancies at Quetta for Indian Army officers will be filled as to 50 per cent. by competition and as to 50 per cent. by nomination. The nominations will be made from amongst those officers who have qualified but have not obtained vacancies.

The British Army age limit of 34 will be reduced to 32 for next year and 1940 and to 30 in 1941. For the Indian Army the age will be 34 next year with an annual drop of a year until 1942, when the examination age will be 31. Indian Army officers may take the entrance test three times and British Army officers twice.

Officers who graduate at Senior Wing and those who graduated after a two years' course at Camberley or Quetta, including those who graduate in December next, will be shown in the Army List as "p.s.c." Junior Wing graduates will be "p.s.c."

The first half of the reinforcements took up duty on September 16, consisting of the H.Q. of the 18th Infantry Brigade (Brigadier O. H. Tidbury, M.C.), Signals, and the 2nd Battalion, The King's Own, disembarking at Haifa from the Neufalia.

ROYAL AIR FORCE

FORMATION OF NEW UNITS

A new service flying training school, No. 12, will form at Grantham on December 1 on which date it will be placed in the Training Command in No. 23 (Training) Group. The present station headquarters, Grantham, will cease to exist from December 1.

Up to 1934 there were four such schools in use, three at home and one in Egypt. Between October 1, 1934, and March 2, 1938, seven more schools were opened: at Digby, Netheravon, Wittering, Peterborough, Montrose, Tern Hill, and Thornaby. In addition the elementary instruction of pilots was transferred to a number of civil flying schools in order that the service schools might concentrate on advanced training.

A new Fleet Requirements Unit has been formed at Lee-on-Solent and placed in the Coastal Command, for embarkation in H.M.S. Argus, the training carrier and depot ship for wireless-controlled target aircraft.

The Fleet Requirements Unit states an Air Ministry Order, is a unit of the Fleet Air Arm, and its duties will be to provide cooperation with the Fleet at sea, whether in home or foreign waters, in accordance with Admiralty requirements.

This unit will not, however, be equipped with pilotless target aircraft, which will continue to be supplied and maintained for all purposes (including cooperation with the Fleet) by Air Force units.

IN SECRET

Boom Defences Tried

Every day during a recent week destroyers and submarines left Rosyth Dockyard to carry out important exercises in the Firth of Forth east of the May Island, and in certain "prohibited" areas of the Forth nearer Rosyth. Some of these exercises were in the nature of experiments closely connected with work done during the last few months by the Boom Defence Establishment on shore.

This year, for the first time, it will be possible to carry out exercises in conjunction with the Fleet Air Arm, based on the shore station at Donibristle, which is now under the new Admiralty Department controlling naval aircraft. An improved wireless station may also be used.

It has been stated recently that the Admiralty may shortly declare a prohibited area in the Forth. In fact, prohibited areas for the purposes of Admiralty exercises or experiments are announced to master mariners from time to time.

CHRISTIANS' SYMPATHY FOR CHINA

Sufferings Told At Bolton Meeting

Queen Street Mission, Bolton, was crowded on September 17 at a meeting arranged by the branch of the China Relief Committee.

The Vicar of Bolton, Canon W. J. Havelock Davidson, who presided, said the world was passing through difficult and anxious days. The troubles of China and Europe were linked together. They belonged to, and arose out of the same evil, the "dethronement of God and the exaltation of man."

A special responsibility lay on Christians, he said, who must bear their witness and rally to the cause of helping the sufferers in the cause of Christ against the forces of anti-Christ.

LARGEST CULTURED AREA

Rev. A. Lee, Vicar of Rawtenstall, for 17 years a resident in China, said that China had the largest cultured area on the face of the globe, and what happened to it would make a great difference to the world. The Chinese had lived on a basis of peace. During recent years, under the influence of a Christian President and his wife, great progress had been made.

Because China was getting strong, Japan decided that it must be now or never he said. It was hard to understand the individual suffering involved. Innocent people had been shot, farms burnt down, and not a living thing left in many districts. The means of production had been destroyed, and factories robbed of machinery, which had been taken to Japan.

200,000,000 AFFECTED

Dr. Jack Foy Woo, who made his first appearance on an English platform, said he did not think English people knew of the actual suffering in China. Eleven provinces with 200,000,000 people were now affected by the war. The number of refugees was immense, and the local governments were doing their best to cope with the work. The progress made by China was the real reason why Japan made war, said Dr. Woo, who gave details of the relief work being undertaken in Shanghai and expressed thanks for the splendid help already rendered by Bolton to his suffering fellow countrymen and asked that the effort should be continued.

The film "Capture of Nan-king" was shown at the meeting, and depicted with graphic horror the savagery involved. The commentator was Rev. Deane Little, a former missionary in China.

DEFENCE BOOKLET

With national defence looming in everyone's consciousness, a booklet just published by John Murray is of enormous value and help. It is "Defence, What Can I Do?" by Lady Williams, D.B.E., and Commander Stephen King-Hall, and it has a Preface by the Marquess of Willingdon.

In it will be found lucid and pertinent information regarding all the organisations working for home defence, and for all those seriously engaged in "doing their bit" here is the expert guidance needed.

HOME FLEET LOADS UP WITH FUEL

It is likely that before the ships leave for the south at the end of October combined exercises will be organised among naval ships, aircraft, and the Territorial coast defence units. It is two years since these were held last. Bad weather made it impossible to complete them.

Battleships and cruisers of the Home Fleet, lying at Invergordon, remained at anchor but there were manifestations of activity on board.

Large oil tankers went alongside several of the vessels with fuel supplies, and numerous supply boats, and speed boats travelled between the ships and the shore throughout the day.

The aircraft carrier, Courageous, carried out air exercises in the Moray Firth.

THE HIGHEST FLYER DIES IN ANOTHER'S PLANE

Squadron-Leader Maurice Adam, holder of the world height record, was killed when a machine in which he was flying as passenger exploded in mid-air and fell in flames.

The crash occurred at Farnborough, Hampshire, within a few minutes of the machine, an R.A.F. bomber, taking off.

Flight-Lieutenant Reginald Monks, the pilot, and Mr. M.T.E. Bond, were both critically injured.

Adam, then a flight-lieutenant, was the stratosphere pilot who in 1937 broke the world record by reaching an altitude of nearly 104 miles.

He received the King's congratulations on his "remarkable feat." Soon afterwards he was married.

Squadron-Leader Adam was in command of the Wireless and Electrical Flight of the "Experimental Squadron." Flight-Lieutenant Monks was serving under him.

"The plane had just cleared the 'trees' bordering the golf course adjoining Farnborough Aerodrome when it exploded and fell in a flaming mass, spreading itself over 100 yards," an eye-witness stated.

"Pieces narrowly missed a golf green and fell within a few yards of where children, with their mothers and nurses were bathing at Cove reservoir."

"The main part of the wreckage fell into a stream. The two engines were blown fifty yards apart."

Adam was thirty. He was a native of St. Andrews in Scotland.

PARADISE FOR TWO

Admirers of Jack Hulbert will be pleased to hear that Britain's No. 1 comedian is in his best form in the new London Film's musical, "Paradise for Two," which is showing to-day at the Majestic Theatre.

Hulbert plays the part of Rene Martin, a millionaire banker who is involved in a motor smash with a chorus girl, Jeannette, a role taken with charm and grace by Patricia Ellis, the beautiful Hollywood star. As a result of the collision Jeannette is mistaken for the millionaire's girl friend.

"Paradise for Two" is a bright, cheerful piece of entertainment, packed with amusing situations and snappy dialogue. Hulbert and Miss Ellis put over several attractive song hits, notably "In A Paradise for Two" and "Kiss Me Goodnight," which are successes.

LONGEST TELEPHONE LINE IN WORLD

Vladivostok, Sept. 28.

What is claimed to be the longest direct telephone and telegraph line in the world is now being built from Moscow to Khabarovsk in Siberia.

The new line will be more than 5,400 miles long—almost 1,250 miles longer than the direct line from Halifax to Vancouver, across Canada, which is at present the longest line in the world.

On the new line it will be possible to transmit simultaneously three telephone conversations, 19 cables and one telephoto over one pair of wires—International.

PRINCE FACES SUMMONS

A summons against Prince Mahmoud, brother of the Sultan of Iregannu, British Malaya, for alleged assault, has been taken out by an Oxford photographer, Mr. Norman Miller, following a scuffle recently, in which the prince and his fiancée, Miss Joyce Blencowe, daughter of an Oxford tailor, were said to be involved.

Mr. Miller saw Prince Mahmoud and his fiancée walking in the centre of Oxford and photographed them.

A crowd watched the scuffle, and Mr. Miller was taken to the Radcliffe Infirmary, where stitches were put into his left arm. His head was also cut.

Prince Mahmoud's proposed marriage with Miss Blencowe was banned at first by his family; later, their objections were withdrawn.

The meeting also decided to establish a training institute here for the education of 1,000 refugee children—Central News.

Charlie Chaplin's First Film Discovered

TOOTHBRUSH MOUSTACHE WAS THEN LUXURIANT GROWTH

ALTHOUGH THERE ARE probably many who know that Charlie Chaplin once directed a film in which he did not appear himself, there must be few who know that he once made a film in which the bowler hat and cane were missing and in which the adornment of the upper lip, so far from being worthy only of the slightest qualification "toothbrush," was in fact a thing of luxuriant and drooping elegance.

Not even the Encyclopaedia Britannica seems aware of this notable fact, for in its biography of Chaplin it is stated that, "In his first picture, made in 1913, he adopted the eccentric costume which has ever since been associated with his name."

A film, however, has now been added to the National Library of the British Film Institute which shows Charlie Chaplin in the guise of a city dude, complete with sinister moustachios and a long frock coat. This film, Making a Living, is said to be the first he ever made, and the unexpectedness of his attire is accounted for by the fact that he was playing a similar part in Fred Karno's sketch, A Night in an English Music Hall, when his potentialities as a film comedian were recognized by Mr. Joseph M. Schenck.

SLAPSTICK SCHOOL

Karno's Company was touring the United States at the time, and it was Mr. Schenck who advised Mack Sennett—founder of the slapstick school of film comedy—to engage Chaplin to play in the comedies then being made by the Keystone Company in Hollywood.

Until recently, only 25 of the 35 films which Charlie Chaplin made for the Keystone Company could be traced, but the National Film Library has now succeeded in discovering and acquiring three more—Making a Living, Twenty Minutes of Love, and Gentlemen of Nerve—and as a result of its enterprise new light has been thrown on the origin and growth of the screen's most illustrious moustache.

PUSHED PRAMS 500 MILES

After seven weeks on the road, Mr. P. Silver, 34, and his 32-year-old wife, with their two infant children in one pram and their scanty provisions in another, have arrived at Adelaide from Melbourne in search of work.

Altogether they have covered about 500 miles. They travelled an average of 15 miles a day, picking up odd jobs on the way, sometimes sleeping under bridges or in the open.

Mr. Silver has obtained temporary work there.

The Chinese Government bank notes in circulation for the period ending June 30, 1938, totalled $1,728,977,835, says a report to the "International Daily News." This figure, observers state, is really not a heavy increase over the previous note issue of the government banks, for up till the end of August, 1937, the notes in circulation, issued by the Bank of China, the Central Bank of China, the Bank of Communications and the Farmers Bank of China, amounted to a total of $1,511,714,642 worth of banknotes, the report states.

It is learned from a very reliable source that the China National Aviation Corporation will resume service between Hongkong and Chungking a fortnight hence.

The reason for the delay is partly because one of the remaining two planes is still undergoing repairs. An order has been sent to America for the construction of a new model passenger plane to take the place of "Kwai" shot down by the Japanese over a month ago.

CROWDED HOUSE OF COMMONS CHEERS PREMIER'S STORY OF EFFORTS TO AVERT CONFLICT

Peace Message To Hitler At Last Minute

Munich Parley Gives Europe Day's Grace.

LONDON, SEPTEMBER 29.
AT THE CLOSE OF A LONG STATEMENT, THE PRIME MINISTER, MR. NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN, ANNOUNCED TO THE HOUSE OF COMMONS YESTERDAY THAT, AS THE RESULT OF A NEW APPEAL FOR PEACE THAT HE HAD ADDRESSED ON WEDNESDAY TO HERR HITLER, THE GERMAN CHANCELLOR HAD INVITED HIM TO A MEETING TO-DAY AT MUNICH, WHERE HE PROPOSED TO PROCEED AS WOULD ALSO SIGNOR MUSSOLINI AND M. DALADIER.

This announcement produced a scene such as has been rarely witnessed within the walls of Parliament. Ministers on the closely packed Treasury bench and supporters of the Government who crowded the benches on the floor of the chamber and filled the galleries rose and cheered for several minutes.

On the Premier's suggestion, to which the two Opposition Leaders brought their support in short speeches the spirit of which was recognised in a renewed outburst of enthusiasm, the House of Commons adjourned until Monday.

"During my visit to Godesberg," said Mr. Chamberlain, "I explained to Herr Hitler the Anglo-French proposals relating to the transfer of Sudeten territory and the final delimitation of the frontier."

"Herr Hitler declined to conclude a pact of non-aggression with Czechoslovakia while other minorities there were still unsatisfied. He also refused to accept my other proposals as too dilatory, and gave me his Memorandum."

"For the first time I found that it contained a time limit and I spoke very frankly of the risks attendant upon such terms."

"I declared that the language and manner of the document was that of an ultimatum, and bitterly reproached the Chancellor for his failure to respond to my efforts for peace."

As a last effort to preserve peace, the Prime Minister explained that he sent Sir Horace Wilson to Berlin on Monday with a personal message to Herr Hitler for delivery before his speech at the Sport Palast. The French Ministers, he told the House, had entirely approved of this initiative.

His letter had pointed out to the German Chancellor that reception of the German Memorandum by the Czechoslovak Government and by the public opinion of the world had confirmed the expectations which he had expressed at their last meeting at Godesberg.

NEW PROPOSAL

The new proposal he made was that, with a view to arriving at a settlement by negotiation, there should be an immediate discussion between German and Czechoslovak representatives in the presence of British representatives.

Herr Hitler, however, expressed the view that he could not depart from the procedure of the Godesberg Memorandum.

On Monday night, after reading Herr Hitler's speech, in which he expressed his disbelief in the intentions of the Czechoslovak Government to carry out their promises, Mr. Chamberlain offered, on behalf of the British Government, to guarantee those promises, and next morning Sir Horace Wilson again saw Herr Hitler, whose view, however, remained unchanged.

Therefore, upon the Prime Minister's instructions, Sir Horace Wilson repeated to the German Chancellor in precise terms that France would fulfil her obligations to Czechoslovakia in the event of an attack upon the latter, and that should France become engaged in hostilities with Germany the British Government would feel obliged to support her.

VIEW UNCHANGED

"Yesterday Sir Horace Wilson resumed his conference with Herr Hitler and found the latter's views apparently unchanged," said Mr. Chamberlain.

"Herr Hitler's reply brought by Sir Horace contains a definite statement that the troops of the German Army would not move beyond a certain red line and that they would be there to preserve order during the plebiscite."

"Herr Hitler offered to join an international guarantee for the remainder of Czechoslovakia once the minority question was settled."

"The reflection which was uppermost in my mind when I read his letter to me was that once more differences and obscurities had been narrowed still further to a point when it was inconceivable that they could not be settled by negotiation," continued the Prime Minister.

"So strongly did I feel it that I felt impelled to send once more a last appeal to Herr Hitler. I sent him the following personal message:

"After reading your letter I feel certain you can get all essentials without war and without delay. I am ready to come to Berlin myself at once to discuss arrangements for the transfer with you and representatives of the Czech Government, together with representatives of France and Italy, if you desire. I feel convinced that we could reach an agreement in a week."

"However much you doubt the Prague Government's intentions you cannot doubt the power of the British and French Governments to see that promises are carried out fairly and forthwith. As you know, I have stated publicly that we are prepared to see they shall be carried out."

"I cannot believe that you will take the responsibility of starting a world war, which may end civilization, for the sake of a few days' delay in settling this long-standing problem."

"I sent a message to Signor Mussolini at the same, appealing to him to refrain from force, and to go himself to Berlin to discuss arrangements with the German and Czech representatives and those of Italy and France," said Mr. Chamberlain.

HITLER AGREES

"I suggested to Signor Mussolini that he inform Herr Hitler that he (Signor Mussolini) would be represented and urge Herr Hitler to agree to my proposal."

"In reply to my message, I was informed that instructions had been sent by Signor Mussolini to the Italian Ambassador in Berlin to see Herr Ribbentrop at once. Herr Hitler agreed to postpone mobilisation for twenty-four hours."

"Whatever views members may have had about Signor Mussolini in the past I believe everyone will welcome his gesture in being willing to work with us for avoidance of war in Europe," said Mr. Chamberlain.

"This is not all. I have something further to say to the House. I have now been informed by Herr Hitler that he invites me to meet him at Munich to-morrow. He has also invited Signor Mussolini and M. Daladier. Signor Mussolini has accepted the invitation and I have no doubt M. Daladier will also accept it. I need not say what my answer will be."

The members seemed to be rubbing their eyes as though awakening from a nightmare and then followed the biggest round of cheers of the day.

WILD CHEERING

Everyone awoke gradually to the full realisation that Mr. Chamberlain had performed yet another service for peace and every member in the House and every stranger in the gallery rose to his feet at a bound and wildly cheered, waved their arms, clapped and shouted."

The Prime Minister stood with his head erect and the muscles of his face twitching. Then he lowered his head, and for a moment stood unsteadily as the cheering carried on.

As the ovation subsided all the weight of the events of the past week seemed to have suddenly descended on the Prime Minister's fortitude.

He controlled himself with the greatest effort, but his ringing voice had gone and as he continued he might have been asking a religious assembly to offer prayer and in scarcely audible tones he concluded:

"I hope that the House will be prepared to release me how to see what I can make of this last effort."

MOIST EYES

Quickly the Prime Minister resumed his seat and both he and Sir John Simon, who had sat beside the Premier throughout the speech, had moist eyes as they spoke a few words to one another.

The Opposition Leader, Mr. Clement Attlee, rose at once and said: "I am absolutely certain that everyone in this House will have welcomed the statement of the Prime Minister that even at this late hour fresh opportunity has arisen for further discussions which may lead to prevention of war."

"I am sure, every Member of the House is desirous of neglecting no chance of preserving peace without sacrificing principle. We wish to give the Prime Minister every opportunity of following this new move, and we agree to adjourn now, and we hope that when the House reassembles in a short time the war clouds may have been lifted."

This statement was cheered on both sides of the House.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, for the Liberals, expressed the feelings of relief which the Premier's announcement had aroused and of the gratitude to him for the unsparing exertions he had made for peace. Reuter and British Wireless.

Ellen Terry's Letters

When some letters and signed photographs of Ellen Terry were auctioned at Glendinning's for a mere £3 12s. 6d. (they were bought by her daughter, Edith Crale), at least two persons there were shocked and saddened by the apparent transience of even that great actress' fame.

One of these was Mrs. Carter, who had been Ellen Terry's cook during the last years at Tenterden and who had bought a small, battered doll given to her daughter by her late employer.

The other was Mr. Sidney Price, the son of "Cindy" Helen Price, to whom the auctioned letters had been written. His mother had known Ellen Terry for most of her acting life.

These letters to her friend "Cindy" were in the actress' most affectionate terms and most illegible handwriting.

"Don't be weariful," she writes in one letter. "I have been for years, and it's the worst illness of all." In another letter she writes, "If I wrote a letter to myself I should go mad trying to read it."

The calligraphy is, indeed, extraordinary; here, there, and everywhere, formless, and full of equation signs, doing duty apparently, for all stops.

Opening the winter entertainment season at the Hongkong Hotel to-morrow night will be the new attraction of June and Collett in swirling, graceful and artistic dances, plus a repertoire of humour and amusing skits and take-offs.

The performances which will be given by these two artistes may well be called international travelling and playing before audiences in Australia, Java, Singapore and America has won for them much popularity and a keen sense as to what will please the public.

Collett danced for many years with the world famous Franco and Marco Company, of the United States and Hollywood, then branching out into foreign countries with his own acts and dances.

This is the first visit of June and Collett to the Far East and, due to engagements, it has taken nine months for them to travel from Java to Hongkong, where they will entertain for the month of October every night, including Sunday, in the "Gripps" of the Hongkong Hotel.

The tango, waltz, two step, acrobatic, taps, and any type of dancing can be found in their foot-steps, with a good laugh and uproarious humour in their comedy numbers.

CHINESE WOMEN'S CLUB INAUGURATED

First Of Kind In Colony: Mrs. M. K. Lo President

A delightful tea party given by Mesdames M. K. Lo and Li Shu-fan marked the formal inauguration of the Hong Kong Chinese Women's Club in the Jacobean Room of the Hongkong Hotel yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. M. K. Lo, in a short speech, welcomed the guests, and stressed the need for the existence of such a club, which would be the first of its kind in Hongkong.

Mrs. Li Shu-pui said:—On behalf of Mrs. M. K. Lo and Mrs. Li Shu-fan, I wish to thank you all again for your presence here to-day and to convey to you on their behalf, of our ultimate object of our gathering here.

I am sure all of you know perfectly well that the aims of this meeting are for the organization of the Hongkong Chinese Women's Club in order that we may be able to serve our country more efficiently and more permanently.

We recall that since the Lukouhas incident last July the Chinese people were called to defend her honour and fight for her existence. To this call, millions of brave and able men and women enlisted to offer their lives for this cause. During this year of stiff resistance, we all realised how bravely they fought—flesh against steel—and how they, together with their innocent civilian brethren—women and children alike—have suffered under the ruthless bombing of the mechanized units.

However, we cannot but admire and respect this noble and unyielding spirit of defence, now more determined than ever before, in spite of their unspeakable sufferings.

DUTY TO COUNTRY

We, the women of China, who are living in comparative safety and comfort must never for one moment forget our duties to our country. It is with this aim in view that you have been invited here to give your fullest co-operation in supporting the organization of this club. We quite realize that there are several women's relief organizations in this Colony, to which many of us belong.

On the other hand, we also feel the necessity of a permanent women's club which should have been organized long before this, for relief as well as local charity work and social activities.

That much more work could be done and shared by one more such organization is quite obvious, and we hope that each and every one of you present here to-day will put your shoulders together and help to promote the activity of this club.

We also hope that we shall be able to follow in the footsteps of our sister organizations all over this country, thus proving that we are not ashamed of being called useful and upright citizens of China.

Seeing that all of you have given us your support by signing as members, I wish to announce, with your permission, the inauguration of the Hongkong Chinese Women's Club.

The club will be a permanent one and the club rooms, for the time being, will be situated at 22, Wyndham Street, first and second floors.

During the present hostilities, the club will engage in relief, educational, charitable and social work.

The following were elected officers:—

President: Mrs. M. K. Lo; Vice-Presidents: Mesdames S. W. Tso and Li Shu-fan; Chairman: Mrs. Li Shu-pui; Vice-Chairmen: Mrs. Y. K. THE 'ATHENIAN' PATTERN

NASTY HEADACHE

Are You A Victim?

Those who are martyrs to headaches frequently suffer needlessly. Realising that a headache is merely a symptom, not an ailment in itself, they disdain any superficial remedy to relieve the pain; they know that the origin of the trouble is bilious, liverish, or nervous—as the case may be—and continue to suffer until the appropriate remedy has corrected the condition that causes it.

EXTERNAL APPLICATIONS

Generally speaking, however, it is the disturbance of the circulation of the blood caused by the original ailment, which in turn causes the pain in the head. Consequently it is not fatuous, as many people think, to treat the headache by friction or compresses, even when it is known to arise from internal conditions. For the pain may be eased wholly or partially pending the cure of these conditions. Here are a few simple ways of finding, at least temporary, relief.

If the head is hot and throbbing, while there is a general shivering elsewhere, the feet should be soaked in hot water. Headache, accompanied by yawning is best treated by a good, square meal. A sick headache demands an internal stimulant such as brandy or sal volatile, accompanied by a cold compress of rubbing with eau-de-Cologne on the forehead.

RHYTHMIC MASSAGE

Nervous headache with throbbing temples will yield to any slow and rhythmic treatment, such as gentle brushing or combing of the hair in one direction, or rubbing the temples with a stick of iced menthol in a circular movement.

If the pain is so acute that the head cannot be touched, soak a bandage in eau-de-Cologne, tie this gently round the head, and then fan slowly to produce a cold and tingling sensation.

In other cases, when the head feels cold and the ache is of the rheumatic type, brisk friction of the scalp with the fingers dipped in warm olive oil will often relieve the pain in a short time.

CREATIVE ARTS IN WAR

SINCE THE JAPANESE INVASION of China, contrary to the usual sterility that overtakes the creative arts in wartime, China has been experiencing a veritable renaissance—on account of two reasons:

The revolutionary nature of the present struggle; and
The fact that scores of artists, writers, musicians, dramatists, actors and others have been released from the routine drudgery of commercial enterprise.

Some well-known artists are engaged in propaganda work and occupy responsible positions, while others have joined the Chinese army as regular soldiers.

DRAMA IN CHINA, vividly reflecting changing forces and conflicts, has rapidly swung from the ancient classics to themes of social justice and national defence. It has received the greatest impetus from the current struggle, and almost all plays presented in the Chinese theatre, to-day are military in theme and indicative of the present Sino-Japanese conflict.

In the musical drama sphere, most of the different troupes of Chinese actors, professional and amateur, now perform behind the Sino-Japanese lines.

CHILDREN TURN ACTORS
Anti-Japan War-Aid Dramatists' Association. Furthermore, not all war-time dramatic effort is confined to adults; even child refugees have turned actors.

KEEPING PACE WITH THE LEGITIMATE THEATRE, the motion picture industry has rapidly adapted itself to creative arts in war. Forced to leave Shanghai, the centre of the motion picture industry, to the interior, artists and technicians are already busy turning out full-length pictures, propaganda films and educational shorts.

Even music has undergone a profound change, and, in contrast with the past, the people of China who used to sing songs of beauty and peace are now singing anthems of war.

Inquisitiveness and social consciousness in graphic arts began to slow themselves a decade ago. In consequence of this revolt against classical academicism, China has now a group of artists, who, in oils and other graphic mediums, have seriously set about presenting living China in art. It is worthy to note that this is a Movement of Youth; hardly one of these artists is over the age of thirty, and, unlike their older colleagues, the younger generation has seized avidly on the swiftly changing scene of Eastern events for their creative purposes.

LIVING CHINA
IN ART
Since the Sino-Japanese hostilities began, they have turned to the more graphic mediums and gone in widely for illustration and satire. Many of the most promising young artists have joined the ranks of the cartoonists and illustrators; they have dedicated their talents to the task of strengthening China's resistance to the ruthless invaders of their country. On vacant walls along the streets of almost every town and village in China, on posts, on trees, on banners and placards carried by countless war service groups, and in newspapers, magazines and special publications, are to be seen the work of these patriotic artists.

IN A LAND OF ILLITERACY, the propaganda value of this type of creative effort cannot be over-estimated.

The recently-formed Chinese Cartoonists Association has already over two hundred members, more than half of whom are graduates of schools of fine art.

In this spirit of self-sacrifice, the writers, dramatists, actors, printers and other creative artists of China have subordinated their private ambitions and careers to the large national interest in order that their country might not only achieve victory, but lasting peace, security and unity.

NEW COMMONWEALTH
SOCIETY'S AIMSPromoting International
Law And Order

The following statement of the aims of the New Commonwealth Society, signed by Mr. Winston Churchill and Lord Davies, is reproduced because of its intense interest, especially in relation to the present international situation:—

The grave deterioration in the international situation which has taken place within the last few years has undoubtedly been the cause of profound anxiety among millions of men and women throughout the British Empire. These feelings of anxiety are probably most acutely felt by those whose understanding of the position compels them to reject as impracticable such policies as isolation and ultra-pacifism.

It is probably true to say that the vast majority of our compatriots, no matter in what quarter of the Empire they may reside, recognise in the development of the collective system the only practical method of safeguarding world peace and thus of ensuring the welfare and security of the British Commonwealth. They realise that only by the inauguration of the reign of law and order in the international sphere can inter-State relationships be satisfactorily regulated. They remain loyal to the fundamental principles enshrined in the League of Nations Covenant.

Unfortunately, however, they are compelled to admit that so far the League has completely failed to fulfil the major functions which it was hoped it would be able to carry out, and this failure has given rise to a natural tendency to discount the prospects of establishing an effective collective system.

In the belief that this brief statement correctly interprets the feelings of the preponderant majority of British men and women, we venture to direct attention to the activities of an organisation which, we submit, approaches the problem of world peace from a practical and constructive angle.

PURPOSES OUTLINED

The purpose of the New Commonwealth Society can be simply stated. The Society advocates the development of the League of Nations from a mere debating society into an effective international authority. Its programme is confined to two concrete proposals:—

(1) the submission of all disputes between nations, which cannot be settled by the processes of negotiation and conciliation, to the jurisdiction of an impartial Tribunal charged with the duty of pronouncing a decision in accordance with the principles of justice and equity;

(2) the creation of an International Police Force to restrain aggression and, if need be, to enforce the decisions of the Tribunal. Thus, the New Commonwealth programme contains provision for both peaceful change and collective security—the two essential requirements in any system of ordered government.

Unfortunately, space prevents in your columns a more detailed exposition of these proposals. We should, however, be grateful if you would allow us to emphasise that the New Commonwealth Movement is already arousing widespread interest.

More than fifty different nationalities are represented in its membership, and sections of the Society have been brought into existence in no less than sixteen countries. Considerable numbers of men and women, prominent in their respective spheres, are co-operating in its educational and research activities, and its programme has been endorsed by many important organisations.

Preparations are now being made to form groups of the Society in the British Dominions and Colonies. We would, therefore, urge those of your readers who recognise in the programme of the New Commonwealth the only constructive means of establishing the peace of the world on a sound and enduring basis, to communicate with the general secretary, The New Commonwealth, Thorney House, Smith Square, London, S.W.1.

A NEW ERA

To those who may feel that the proposals which we have so briefly outlined are Utopian and idealistic, we would point out that they represent nothing more than the application in the realm of inter-State relationships of those principles upon which the peaceful development of every civilised national community has been based.

We submit that the future of every unit of the British Commonwealth depends upon the inauguration of a new era of law and order in international affairs. For this reason alone, we are confident that the programme of the Movement which it is our privilege to represent will call forth overwhelming support from among our compatriots overseas.

SCHOOLS "LIKE
Factories"Teachers Who Fall
Into Grooves

Teachers were criticised by Mr. Frank Roscoe, senior tutor at the City of London Vocational College, Regent's Park, recently.

"We teachers," he said, "tend too much to fall into grooves. The teacher who continues to work automatically and mechanically ought to be shown the door at once."

"In many schools it is still almost a crime for one child to be found helping another. Cannot we encourage helpfulness rather than narrow self-interest?"

"I want us to divest ourselves of the notion that a school is something like a factory. Our schools seem to lack gaiety, and the sooner teachers come to think of teaching as rather a jolly adventure and cease taking themselves too seriously, the better."

LOOKING FIERCE
"We attach great importance to discipline, but we never stop to think what it really is. It is commonly understood to be the power of sitting still and doing as you are told. It is thought that anybody can keep discipline if he can look fierce enough, but what is it worth to have children living in dread of you?"

Commenting on the type of art found in many schools Mr. Roscoe said he went into one classroom where there were two highly varnished pictures. One was of muscles exhibited and the other the human form with all the internal organs displayed

QUEEN MARY
SENDS GIFTGodchild Marries
Curate

"For my dear godchild, Enid Grant, with every good wish for her happiness, from Mary B."

These words, written in Queen Mary's handwriting, accompanied a beautiful blue travelling case sent as a wedding present to Miss Mary Enid Grant, daughter of the Rev. Dr. Rowland Grant, rector of Walcot, and the Hon. Mrs. Grant, who was married to the Rev. K. A. Gray, one of her father's curates, at St. Andrews, Bath, on September 8.

Miss Grant was born at Sandringham, where her father was rector from 1912 to 1928. Queen Alexandra was her elder sister's godmother, and King George V. was her brother's godfather.

Mr. Wang Chen-huan, representing the Foreign Trade Readjustment Commission, arrived in Shanghai recently from Hongkong with a Soviet Trade Bureau representative, says a report to the "Hwa Mei Chen Pao." Mr. Wang is supervising the assortment of tea for re-export to Soviet Russia under a Sino-Soviet tea purchase contract amounting to $15,000,000, the report states.

Finally he had this to say of examinations: "When we consider that so many children have their whole future determined by an examination at the age of 11, surely we as teachers ought to say, 'No, we cannot consent to have a dress rehearsal of the Day of Judgment at the age of 11.'"

CORRESPONDENCE
LEAGUE OF PALS

[To the Editor, "The Hong Kong Daily Press"]

Sir,—I have the honour to apologise you in a matter which may prove of some interest to some of your readers.

Some of them may have heard of The League of Pals and should they not have then I shall try to explain a little of its functions here.

The League is not like some of the other Correspondence Clubs but it goes much further in promoting Social Clubs for its members in every city. Thus each member is given the opportunity of writing to other members in all parts of the world, about stamps, travel and other topics of general interest, and at the same time encouraged to meet local and near-by members socially. It is well to note, with present conditions so uncertain throughout the world, that one of the chief aims of the League is the promotion of Friendship and Brotherhood among all Nations.

I have recently been appointed the Chief Pal for Hongkong, and China generally as from 1st September.

As I have stated previously, it is partly a Correspondence Club but its activities do not end there. It goes still further in sponsoring a Club for every city in which it is working. A Chief Pal is appointed for every city and it will be his duty to form a Club for the benefit of the members, some of its activities being in organising parties, picnics, hikes, meetings, etc. The Chief Pal is empowered at all times to make announcements in the Press, give talks, and to visit the different centres of his District. Should circumstances require it, assistants and committees may be formed to help him in his work. Please note that he does all this without expectations of any remuneration.

It is not necessary that each member correspond with more than two other members from other parts of the world. A magazine is issued quarterly and it is hoped that every member will subscribe to it, for in it are articles of general interest to all members and not only give them ideas as to what Pals in other parts of the world are doing, but also interesting articles, stories, etc. Members are encouraged to visit other members in different places and in order to help them in this a badge is available which will make it easy for one member to know the other.

The Chief Pal is always at his disposal and always willing to help him contact other members. There are members in 62 different countries and large numbers are joining weekly so that the League is becoming an important force in the promotion of peace.

I have been informed by the Chief Pal of the League that many persons from Hongkong have written to him for information and I shall be grateful if these persons shall get in touch with me through your esteemed paper. I also extend an invitation to any of your readers who may be interested in the League to do likewise. I shall then arrange a meeting, at which I shall more fully explain to them the workings of the League. If they are satisfied, then I have a number of forms with me which they shall be asked to fill in.

Thanking you sincerely for the valuable space in your esteemed paper and with hopes that the bet shall result from this appeal.

CHINESE ART SHOW

[To the Editor, "The Hong Kong Daily Press"]

Sir,—I shall be much obliged if you will give publicity to the following clarification as regards the Loan Exhibition of Contemporary Chinese Art which Mr. Jack Chen is arranging to take to Europe shortly.

The Hongkong Working Artists' Guild, which is the local link with the newly-formed Chinese Federation of Artists, has undertaken to collect exhibits from its supporters. These are to be as representative as possible of art work now being done in China, and such as can be packed flat. Drawings, photographs, reproductions, water colours, pastels, etc., or in Oriental scrolls. They will be framed in London.

Some fears have been expressed for the safety of the individual exhibitor. Mr. Chen, who is working with the English Artists' International Association and the American Artists' Congress, has made the following statement in a

STORM CENTRE
OF EUROPEWhy Germany Holds Sudeten
Area So Important

CZECHOSLOVAKIA... the country with the name which looks, as a well-known politician privately remarked, "like a printer's error"

A country which we have heard about since the War, but of which we know very little.

It stands in the centre of the world spot-light to-day.

What is Czechoslovakia?

Why does it have a Problem?

What are Sudetens? And other minorities?

The nation of Czechoslovakia was founded exactly twenty years ago.

It was one of the War's pieces of map-making.

And Britain played a large part in creating the country which to-day stands at the cross-roads of its destiny.

The present frontier between Germany and Czechoslovakia was for some seven hundred years the frontier of the ancient kingdom of Bohemia, which before the War formed part of the empire of Austria-Hungary.

NEVER PART OF GERMANY

In view of the present dispute, it is interesting to note that the territories now inhabited by the Sudeten Germans in actual fact never formed part of Germany.

Germans began to settle in Bohemia from very earliest times. It was from Germany that the first attempts to preach Christianity to the Bohemians were made, but these were not successful.

As I have stated previously, it is partly a Correspondence Club but its activities do not end there. It goes still further in sponsoring a Club for every city in which it is working. HANKOW FOREIGNERS PREPARE FOR LONG SIEGE

Evacuation Of Women And Children Soon FUEL SUPPLY PROBLEM

Hankow, September 29. ABOUT 1,000 FOREIGNERS REMAINING IN HANKOW have formed into a group and laid in food supplies and other necessities in preparation for a long siege. They include 300 English, 150 Americans, 100 Germans and 60 French.

The foreign colony appears to be calm and follows the routine which prevailed before the hostilities.

The Foreign Residents' Association, organised to attend to the emergency needs of the colony, has assessed each member $30 to store food supplies.

Canned food, rice and wheat are being purchased with the $30,000 fund, which is expected to sustain the foreigners for a month.

About 200 foreign women and children are now in the district. Plans are being made for their removal to Ichang, Chungking and Yunnan. Junks and small launches will be used to evacuate them next month.

SUPPLY OF FUEL

Another problem facing the foreigners is the supply of fuel for the approaching winter. Coal has become a little scarce but the power company is expected to continue operations indefinitely. In the meantime, the authorities are taking steps to fortify the French Concession, which has been surrounded with barbed-wire entanglements and sand-bag barricades. Strong iron gates have been erected at the entrance of the concession, where mounted machine-guns stand ready for action.

Annamite sentries patrol the entrance. Similar defence preparations have been taken to fortify the former British Concession.—International.

A SOLDIER WHO OFFERED LOAN OF BIBLE

Immortalised By New Street Name

A soldier who was reprimanded because he offered to lend his Bible to other soldiers is among those whose memory is perpetuated by new street names in London.

To find acceptable name for the 1887 streets that have so far been dealt with by the London County Council in its campaign to reduce duplication, experts have delved deep into historical associations and local lore.

The procedure is that the Street Register department of the L.C.C. makes recommendations to a sub-committee of the Town Planning Committee.

In making its suggestions the department sometimes calls in the help of two assistant historical research officers permanently employed by the L.C.C.

The sub-committee then gives notice of the proposed change, and invites alternative suggestions from Borough Councils and local residents.

Residents are often very attached to the name of their road or street. Some pleasant-sounding names, such as Marlborough, Devonshire, or Cumberland, are popular, and are frequently relinquished unwillingly.

NURSE CAVELL REMEMBERED
Among the 400 new names introduced last July are many which have interesting historical or romantic associations.

The soldier whose name has been given to Rudd-street, Woolwich, was a member of the Woolwich Garrison in 1816. He was reprimanded by the Commandant for hanging a card behind the guard room door offering the loan of a Bible to any soldier who wanted it. The matter was taken up by an officer, who was also reprimanded.

In 1825, as a result of Rudd's action, a King's Regulation was issued providing a Bible and a Prayer Book for every soldier at the public expense.

Other more famous people are similarly commemorated. The former Bedford-street, Stepney, has been renamed Cavell-street, after Nurse Cavell, who served for a time at the London Hospital.

The name of Cardinal John Fisher, Bishop of Rochester, who was beheaded in 1535 for refusing to acknowledge King Henry VIII as head of the Church, has been given to the former Glasshouse-street, Stepney, on the suggestion of the Stepney Borough Council.

DELIBERATIONS IN MUNICH

Munich, Sept. 29. The city was hurriedly decorated for the meeting of Europe's leading Prime Ministers, Mr. Chamberlain (Great Britain) and M. Daladier (France) and dictators, Herr Hitler (Germany) and Signor Mussolini (Italy).

The four leaders will hold the conference in the large central hall of the Fuehrer's house which was built a year ago and was first used when Mr. Duce visited Herr Hitler last September.

Reserves called up for military service have been released for special duty in the town. The British Prime Minister will occupy a suite in the Vierjahreszeiten Hotel during his stay while Signor Mussolini will probably stay at the Prince Karl Palace which is luxuriously decorated and which was placed at his disposal last year.—Reuter.

GROUND FOR HOPE

Canberra, Sept. 29. The Australian Prime Minister, Mr. Joseph H. Lyons, stated today that the Munich meeting gave ground for hope that a way will be found out of the present difficult situation and that there will be no recourse to force.

The Commonwealth Government had been hourly in touch with Mr. Chamberlain during the past fortnight.—Reuter.

DALADIER LEAVES

Le Bourget, Sept. 29. The French Premier, M. Daladier, has left for Munich.—Reuter.

CZECH MINISTERS AT MUNICH

London, Sept. 29. The Czech Legation announces that it has informed the British Government that M. Mastny, Czech Minister in Berlin, accompanied by M. Lisecky, Counselor of the Czech Legation in London, are going to Munich to be at the disposal of the British and French delegations for the purpose of giving information only as suggested by Mr. Chamberlain.—Reuter.

TOKYO DISCUSSION

Tokyo, Sept. 29. The European crisis was discussed at an informal meeting of Army leaders and members of the Supreme War Council this morning. Those present included Prince Kanin, Chief of the Army General Staff, and Prince Asaka, the Emperor's uncle by marriage.—Reuter.

BRITISH PLAN ACCEPTED

Prague, Sept. 29. An official communique states that the Czech Government will accept in principle, but with some reservations, a British plan communicated to it in the form of a Note for execution of the Anglo-French proposals for settlement of the Sudeten German problem. The acceptance was notified to the British Government before the opening of the Munich conference.—Reuter.

BERLIN JOYOUS

Berlin, Sept. 29. The news of the conference between Europe's four leading statesmen has been received with great satisfaction in political quarters. Hope of the possibility of a peaceful solution has been reawakened and has given rise to a feeling of joy. Large crowds gathered in the Wilhelmstrasse where the Fuehrer's official residence is located, and adjacent streets, and waited patiently till the Fuehrer left the Chancellery at 8 p.m. to drive to the Anhalt Station, from where he left for Munich.—Reuter.

AT THE RACE MEETING

MRS. GRAEME BANNERMAN and Mrs. J. F. Clay photographed at the Race meeting last Saturday afternoon.

DR. LANG PAYS TRIBUTE TO MR. CHAMBERLAIN

London, Sept. 29. Dr. Cosmo Lang, Archbishop of Canterbury, in a broadcast to the nation last night paid tribute to the patience and courage of Mr. Chamberlain.

He also asked all members of the Church to pray for the success of his mission and for peace, the danger to which is not yet over.—Reuter Bulletin.

Munich in a special train.—Transocean.

PRAGUE SILENT

Prague, Sept. 29. The agreement to hold a Four-Power Conference at Munich was announced here by radio last night without comment. The papers publish it also without comment. Official quarters also do not voice any opinion.—Transocean.

ALL-EMBRACING

Washington, Sept. 29. Dr. Dieckhoff, the German Ambassador, called on Mr. Cordell Hull this morning. Later he stated that he believed that the Munich Conference would lead to a broad settlement, embracing not only Czechoslovakia but also other European problems.—Reuter.

CANADA RELIEVED

Ottawa, Sept. 29. Deep relief is felt throughout Canada at the news of the conference to be held at Munich.—Reuter.

CZECHS WISH TO BE REPRESENTED

London, Sept. 29. It is understood that the Czech Minister in London, M. Jan Masaryk, yesterday handed Mr. Chamberlain a note suggesting that a Czech spokesman attend the Munich conference.—Reuter.

GERMAN STAND UNCHANGED

Berlin, Sept. 29. This conference will not change the German view of the question of the Sudetens, but if the four persons talk, matters over they should certainly become clearer," declared an official of the Propaganda Ministry with regard to the Munich conference.—Reuter.

PARIS TENSION EASED

Paris, Sept. 29. The announcement of the Munich Conference surprised Paris but immediately brought a great relaxation of the current tension.—Reuter.

WALL STREET RALLY

Washington, Sept. 29. White House circles regard Herr Hitler's invitation as most encouraging and Wall Street greeted the news with a rousing rally.—Reuter.

GENEVA SURPRISE

Geneva, Sept. 29. The announcement of the Munich meeting was received with the greatest surprise here. It has aroused the liveliest hopes of a peaceful settlement. Mr. Chamberlain's policy is warmly praised on all sides.—Reuter.

IT'S ALL RIGHT

London, Sept. 29. Cheering crowds ran behind the Prime Minister's car in Whitehall and formed about it as Mr. Chamberlain descended at No. 10 Downing Street with his wife.

The Premier was smiling and confident and in response to the cheers of the crowds he cried, "It's all right this time."

Then he seized his wife's arm and shook it warmly.

QUEEN MARY IN TEARS

Queen Mary was present in the Speaker's Gallery during the Prime Minister's speech and was in tears when she left. The Duke of Kent, occupying the seat over the clock traditionally reserved for the Prince of Wales, also listened to the speech.—Reuter.

Reprisals For Sanctions

JAPAN MAY ALTER POLICY

Tokyo, Sept. 29. A threat that reprisals will be taken if sanctions are applied against Japan is contained in an inspired statement issued today.

It states that the action of applying active sanctions would mean that the legal view that no formal state of war exists would be abandoned. This view, which was adopted by Britain and other nations to protect their interests in China, would have to be modified.

"In this case Japan would have to re-consider her fundamental policy of respecting foreign interests and concessions in China, and would have to take free action in her military operations in China."

The opinion is expressed, however, that the preoccupation of the European nations with the present crisis precludes the members of the League of Nations from applying sanctions immediately.—Reuter.

DISTRIBUTION OF ESSENTIAL FOODS

London, Sept. 29. The Parliamentary Committee of Grocers and Provision Dealers Associations resolved yesterday to place the whole machinery of their organisation at the disposal of the Government and to assist even in the distribution of essential foods. This is one outcome of the activities of the Food Defence Department of the Board of Trade in establishing touch with leading members of the food trade in preparation for measures which would be put into operation in case of national emergency.—British Wireless.

FRENCH OCCUPATION OF PARACELS

Shanghai, Sept. 29. French engineers have completed the construction of a wireless station on Paracel Islands, off the eastern coast of French Indo-China, which indicates that France intends temporarily to occupy the Islands, says a Hongkong dispatch to the "Nichi Nichi".

Three French warships are stationed near the Islands. The cable adds that France has completed work on the expansion of its large aerodrome in Kwangchowwan, which will directly connect Kwangchowwan with Haiphong and other important points in French Indo-China.—International.

The car drivers' home service unit organised by the Hongkong Car Drivers' Union will start for the interior to-morrow. A farewell meeting, with a flag presentation ceremony, sponsored by the Union was held yesterday.

Burma Overseas Chinese Ambulance Corps

SOLE GIRL MEMBER TELL OF WISH TO AID MOTHER COUNTRY

"I am glad to go back to my mother country and to render service to her in her distress," declared Miss Leong Chi-chi, the only female member of the Burma Overseas Chinese Ambulance Corps which arrived here on Wednesday, in an interview with a representative of the "Hongkong Lih Pao".

Returning to China for the first time, Miss Leong is full of expectation of seeing actual conditions in the interior of which she had heard so much whilst in Burma.

She said that her parents tried to dissuade her from coming in view of the danger involved in going to the war zones, but she finally won their consent and joined the corps.

According to Miss Leong, there were ten other girl members in the corps when it was first organised. They were, however, prevented from coming to China by their families.

She revealed that the Chinese women in Burma are very much concerned over the war in China and that tears actually came to their eyes when they read about

Japanese Commodities On Decrease In Dutch East Indies

PROTECTIVE TRADE POLICY OF GOVERNMENT IN BATAVIA

Shanghai, September 29. Japanese commodities have lost much of their foothold in the Dutch East Indies, as Dutch products are gaining momentum there, according to information received from Batavia.

During the first half of this year, imports of Japanese goods to the Dutch East Indies decreased by 52 per cent. compared with the same period last year, to 30,430,000 guilders, while imports from Holland increased by 41 per cent. to 1,880,000 guilders.

Japanese commodities, mostly cotton goods and metal products, have dropped heavily. The unbleached cloth market was monopolised by the Japanese, but products of the Java Cotton Industry Company, a Dutch corporation established last year, are bringing direct pressure upon Japanese goods.

An equal blow is given to finished Japanese cloth, with the result that its import value went off sharply. Several reasons are pointed out in connection with the business depression. Anti-Japanese feeling in the Dutch Indies, influence of the China incident, high prices of Japanese cloth, and the strengthening of the protective trade policy of the Batavia Government are responsible, the paper reports.

JAPANESE RESORT TO GAS

Sian, Sept. 29.

To break the stiff Chinese resistance, the Japanese resorted to gas warfare during an attack on Szechwang, a village in the vicinity of Chungyang, in western Shansi on September 23, a belated report received here reveals.

More than 30 Chinese soldiers were killed. The Japanese, however, were beaten back by the Chinese who tenaciously held their ground.—Central News.

CHARITY SOCCER MATCH

Eastern Defeat Combined Team

In a charity match played on the Club ground yesterday, in aid of Kwangtung distressed children, Eastern Athletic Association defeated a Combined XI by three goals to one, after leading at the interval by 3-0.

About 1,000 spectators witnessed the game including Admiral and Mrs. Chan Chak and Mrs. Yu, wife of General Yu Hon-mau, Pacification Commissioner of Kwangtung.

Hau Ching-to, Ngau Shu-ngok and Ho Ka-keung scored for Eastern while Roberts netted for the losers from a spot-kick. In the first half, before Eastern had scored, Leonard missed a penalty for the Combined XI.</
